

Conference 'Extended Cognition'

The Centre for Philosophical Psychology of the University of Antwerp organizes a symposium on 'Extended Cognition', on Wednesday 15 March 2006.

Admission is free, but please register beforehand by e-mailing lars.denul@ua.ac.be.

EXTENDED COGNITION

13.30h - 14h:

Johan Veldeman (Universiteit Antwerpen): Externalism, Cognition, and Perceptual Experience

14h - 14.45h:

Filip Buekens (Universiteit Tilburg): The Origins of Cognition

Coffee Break (14.45h - 15.15h)

15.15-16h:

Lieven Decock (Vrije Universiteit Amsterdam): Artefacts and Categories

16h-17h:

Richard Menary (University of Hertfordshire): Cognitive Integration

LOCATION: University of Antwerp, City Campus, "Annex" (also known as "Prinsenhofke"). Across the entrance of building R at Lange Winkelstraat you will find the "Annex", built up against the Protestant church.

This symposium takes place with the cooperation of the Dutch/Flemish Society for Analytic Philosophy.